Learn, Innovate and Valorize Europe

Integration – A Guidebook for the Future

Course Summary

Europe is a cross-cultural community and it's co-creating content. Europe doesn't claim knowledge nor the ultimate truth, but all countries together are creating spaces for dialogue and providing contextual information from different point-of-views.

Multiculturalism is a manifestation of liberal democracy based on mutual tolerance and cooperation. Europe's culture has always been in a constant state of flux, as it befits a society built on successive waves of immigration. Diversity not only assumes that all individuals are unique, i.e., different, but that difference is indeed value-added. Within those changes, Europe has always been liberal-democratic, which implies a high degree of freedom of expression. That's Europe, that's what it is to be a European!

Course Objectives

This course is for all those who are interested to improve their intercultural competences and learn interactive methods to support integration of learners from different cultures into a collaborating team.

The course's main goal is to develop and acquire effective skills to overcome barriers to integration of new immigrants and develop their intercultural understanding and to develop a European dimension of education.

Learning outcomes:

- Understand the dimensions of incorporation/integration, identity and belonging.
- Facilitating the understanding of identity and conflict, and analysis of its diverse forms.
- Learning techniques and approaches for diverting the focus from identifying differences to achieving a common goal.
- Improving the understanding of sensations, feelings and thoughts through individual and collective perceptions.
- Developing skills for dialogue, tolerance and collaboration, using games and exercises.
- Developing communication, collaboration, presentation, problem solving, negotiation, critical and creative thinking skills.
- Overcome integration barriers such as poor qualifications and language domain which may penalize immigrants/refugees
- Helping students develop host language through language training, as well as in embracing both identities and cultures (Europe's and their own).
- Building a Sense of Belonging pursuing an active participation by all immigrants in all aspects of collective life.
- Citizenship as the last stage of a cultural integration process.
- Promoting intercultural awareness.
- Promoting universal access to education and enrich communication skills, improve foreign language competencies and promote EU's linguistic diversity.
- Improving communication skills in English.
