Course Summary

First of all, climate change education provides an important window into individual and societal responsibility. This course is designed for all levels of education and diverse subject areas. It aims to introduce climate change education for sustainable development across the curriculum, as we all need to understand what and how to teach about the complex forces driving climate change, as well as its impacts on culture, security, well-being and on our future.

We all have to change.

Teachers have a very important role: to take forward a whole-school response to climate change that includes addressing climate and sustainability across the curriculum. Teachers need to build upon the participatory learning approaches called for education for sustainable development, taking learning out of the classroom and into the community.
