Course description

Educational institutions increasingly rely on digital tools to coordinate projects, manage information, communicate with colleagues and support participants in international activities. Making these processes work effectively requires more than technical skills. Clear responsibilities, organised documentation, effective teamwork and continuous professional development are equally important.

This practical course strengthens the digital, organisational and collaborative skills of teachers, administrators, project staff and mobility coordinators. Participants will explore how to organise shared documents, manage tasks and deadlines, improve communication, support international participants and use feedback to strengthen institutional practices. They will also examine how small digital improvements can make everyday educational and administrative work more efficient.

Through hands-on workshops, realistic coordination scenarios and exchange with European colleagues, participants will develop a practical digital workflow and a personal professional development plan. The emphasis is on creating useful solutions that can be adapted to participants' own institutions, supporting continuous learning, effective collaboration and sustainable organisational improvement.

1. Identify a relevant professional need:
   Consider which learner need, classroom challenge or institutional priority the course learning could help address.
2. Adapt the approach to your setting:
   Select the activities, tools or approaches that can realistically be incorporated into your own professional context.
3. Decide what progress would look like:
   Consider how changes in practice, learner engagement, learning outcomes or another relevant result could be recognised.

05 / LEARNING APPROACH & METHODOLOGY

Learning Together Methodology

Learning Together courses combine guided input supported by presentations and multimedia resources with practical experimentation, creative workshops, case-based learning and hands-on tools. Participants connect the learning to their own professional situations and progressively develop an applied outcome, which may take the form of a presentation, project, session plan, action idea, reflection or another relevant output.

Peer / trainer feedback supports refinement throughout the process, while European exchange encourages participants to compare practices, perspectives and approaches across different educational contexts.

Methods applied in this programme

Digital Workflow Mapping & Guided Tool Exploration

Participants analyse real processes and test digital tools for coordination, documentation, shared work and information management, always linking tool choice to organisational need.

Mobility & Project Scenario Simulation

Realistic scenarios support decision-making around participant communication, documentation, responsibilities, deadlines, unexpected issues and international collaboration.

Portfolio-Based Reflection & Action Planning

Participants consolidate practical outputs in a learning portfolio, review evidence of competence growth and prepare professional and institutional development actions.

Collaborative learning, peer exchange and reflection

Participants work with European colleagues, compare professional contexts, exchange approaches and reflect on how the learning can be transferred to their own institutions.

> Illustrative example: Designing a Digital Workflow for International Mobility Coordination
>
> Imagine an institution preparing an international mobility involving participants, coordinators and partner organisations. Participants map the process, organise a shared digital workspace, define responsibilities and communication routines, and create a simple feedback and monitoring approach. The resulting workflow supports clearer coordination, participant information and institutional learning.

An adaptable learning experience

Learning Together courses are delivered by trainers with relevant professional & pedagogical experience, who are fluent English speakers. The trainer may vary by edition, adapting the activities to the group's professional context and learning goals.
