Course description

Creative digital technologies offer new opportunities for learners to express ideas, develop knowledge and collaborate through visual, interactive and multimedia experiences. Their educational value lies not in technological novelty, but in how effectively they support creativity, communication, active participation and meaningful learning. When integrated with clear pedagogical objectives, digital creation can transform learners from passive consumers into active contributors.

This course introduces practical approaches to collaborative ideation, interactive presentations, digital storytelling, creative writing, visual design, image editing and short-form video. Participants will experiment with accessible tools while learning to make sound choices about format, audience, accessibility and classroom use.

Through hands-on workshops, collaborative projects and practical experimentation, participants will develop a digital portfolio featuring creative educational resources and an integrated learning activity. They will explore how to encourage learner voice, teamwork and creative expression, while adapting the activities for implementation in their own classrooms or training environments.

1. Identify a relevant professional need:
   Consider which learner need, classroom challenge or institutional priority the course learning could help address.
2. Adapt the approach to your setting:
   Select the activities, tools or approaches that can realistically be incorporated into your own professional context.
3. Decide what progress would look like:
   Consider how changes in practice, learner engagement, learning outcomes or another relevant result could be recognised.

05 / LEARNING APPROACH & METHODOLOGY

Learning Together Methodology

Learning Together courses combine guided input supported by presentations and multimedia resources with practical experimentation, creative workshops, case-based learning and hands-on tools. Participants connect the learning to their own professional situations and progressively develop an applied outcome, which may take the form of a presentation, project, session plan, action idea, reflection or another relevant output.

Peer / trainer feedback supports refinement throughout the process, while European exchange encourages participants to compare practices, perspectives and approaches across different educational contexts.

Methods applied in this programme

Studio-Based Tool Exploration

Short guided demonstrations lead directly into creative tasks so that participants learn tool functions through purposeful production.

Collaborative Storytelling & Media Production

Participants brainstorm, write, design and produce digital content in structured collaborative activities with clear creative roles.

Portfolio Development & Creative Review

A connected portfolio project is refined through peer critique, accessibility checks, responsible-use considerations and reflective evaluation.

Collaborative learning, peer exchange and reflection

Participants work with European colleagues, compare professional contexts, exchange approaches and reflect on how the learning can be transferred to their own institutions.

> Illustrative example: Creating a Collaborative Digital Storytelling Lesson
>
> Imagine a teacher transforming a curriculum topic into a collaborative digital story. Learners brainstorm ideas in a shared space, develop a narrative, create visual or short-video elements and present the final resource to an audience. Participants design the process, define roles and review accessibility, consent and learning value before classroom use.

An adaptable learning experience

Learning Together courses are delivered by trainers with relevant professional & pedagogical experience, who are fluent English speakers. The trainer may vary by edition, adapting the activities to the group's professional context and learning goals.
